Pragati Smart Green Garden City

About Pragati

Pragati Group specialises in bringing you smart garden colonies to give relief from the ever growing urban adulterated and polluted living to provide a bio-diverse, pure living environment. Pragati has been recognised by United Nations and the global community for successfully maintaining the balance of nature to sustain the ecology at its Pragati Bio diversity Knowledge Park in Hyderabad. The park spread over 2500 acres has been transformed into a lush green, bio-diverse, self sustainable living space with 33 lac herbal, fruit and wood bearing trees based on the practices of Indian scientific traditions and sacred methodologies. The arrangement of 800 varieties of sacred herbal and heritage medicinal plantations at various pockets here called Aushadhies are Pranapradatas and Arogyapradatas. They remove toxins from the body, refresh an individual through aroma therapy and have made the area completely free from mosquitoes, bad bacteria and viruses. The flora support system has been augmented with water bodies and an innovative water supply system to reduce the temperature here 6-7 C° lesser than city levels. The zero pollution, carbon free environment here can further be substantiated by the prevailing ambient air quality standard of only 1.4 in Pragati as against the permissible limit of 100.
